Maximizers vs Satisficers: Who Makes Better Decisions?

Do maximizers or satisficers take the best approach to decision making, and which personality type is happiest with their decisions?

“We are faced with increasing pressure to make prudent decisions about every aspect of our lives - from choosing the healthiest breakfast option, finding a school or university to attend, or partnering with the person who will make us the happiest. Make the correct choice and you can give yourself a pat on the back. But make a bad decision - or even the 'least optimal' one, when given a choice - and you can be left with feelings of regret, punishing yourself for picking an inferior option without the benefit of hindsight.”
