EDITED QUOTE: One benefit of being in College Now is that because of all the speaking I had to do in my classes, I learned to be more comfortable whenever presenting in front of a group. Another is that I’ve developed a college-level mentality sooner than many other students have, and this will help me balance my social and school lives.

EDITED QUOTE: Taking College Now courses in high school has helped me tremendously. I can’t thank my guidance counselors enough for pushing me and having faith in me to be ready to do some extra work for some amazing rewards. We all want to save money and time when we go to college, and one of the best ways is to take College Now classes in high school. My six classes gave me the experience of being a college student, dealing with responsibilities, working independently and in a group and keeping track of deadlines.

EDITED QUOTE: In the SD 10 – 11 courses, I learned a lot about different college choices, the application process and financial aid. They also helped me to search within myself to discover a career I might be interested in. My two other classes have helped me to do better in English and math.

EDITED QUOTE: Having the opportunity to take two College Now courses and receiving college credits in high school is both relieving and satisfying. The classes have given me an awareness of the rigor of college courses. HUM 1 taught me how to analyze more critically, and BA 10 forced me to think about better time management. Each gave me three college credits and improved my intellectual capacity and study habits.

Leon M. Goldstein

EDITED QUOTE: Most of my peers said it would be difficult to go to school so early in the morning, but I saw College Now as an opportunity to start preparing for my college career. The program has saved me time and money and provided me with numerous opportunities to explore my career options. It has also given me a chance to grow into a responsible young adult.

EDITED QUOTE: I didn’t know what to expect from college courses, so my first class was a serious reality check. It and my second one made me more responsible and more accountable for my school work. They gave me a glimpse of the real world and how you have to compete to get what you want in life. I had originally thought of entering the workforce or joining the Marines, but the classes encouraged a young man with an undecided future to go to college.

EDITED QUOTE: One of the benefits of education is the broadening of perspective. A number of courses are specifically tailored to provide this benefit – everything from philosophy to psychology-, but these courses are rarely available to high school students. Therefore, it’s an advantage to be able to take one of them through the College Now program; in my case, I took sociology. The class helped to open my eyes to the true injustices in the world around me and consequently cement my investment into becoming a forensic scientist.

EDITED QUOTE: My College Now experience was interesting and incredible. The support I received in my two classes encouraged me to work ten times harder so not to disappoint my teachers and gave me the confidence I lacked. The two courses improved my writing skills, furthered my knowledge and expanded my circle of learning new things. I am thankful and grateful for the opportunity that my school gave me.
